

4th Annual Catch a Cure for Cancer™ Raises over $400,000

August events support The Gregory Fund for early cancer-detection research.

The Moyer Foundation's Catch a Cure for Cancer was a huge success this year, raising more than $400,000 to support The Gregory Fund for early-cancer detection research at Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. Catch a Cure for Cancer was made possible by numerous corporate partners, volunteers and individual donors who all helped raise funds for this important cause.

"We always have a great time at this event, and we are happy to support such a worthy cause," said Jay and Marsha Glazer, patrons and friends of the Foundation.

Because of its commitment to early cancer detection, the Canary Foundation also joined the Catch a Cure for Cancer team and committed to a challenge gift of $100,000. Canary Foundation Founder and CEO Don Listwin said he was pleased to see the support of the Seattle community in response to the Catch a Cure for Cancer initiative, and is honored Canary helped to raise this year's grand total far above last year's fund-raising mark of $250,000.

The month-long fundraising campaign was celebrated at the end of the month with the Catch a Cure for Cancer radiothon on WARM 106.9 and the Celebrity Waiters Dinner and Auction hosted by Union Square Grill. Guests enjoyed an elegant five-course dinner and wine pairing served by local sports and TV personalities.

Gregory Chaya, the namesake of The Gregory Fund, traveled with his family from Pennsylvania to Seattle to help raise awareness throughout the weekend—answering phones at the radiothon, talking to the media, and helping with the live auction.

"Jamie has been a hero to me my whole life, and I am happy to help support this cause—because I don't want other kids to have to go through what I went through with cancer," said 16-year-old Gregory.

The Moyer Foundation created The Gregory Fund in 2003. To date, the Foundation has raised over $1.2 million through Catch a Cure for Cancer events. Through research, more lives can be saved with the development of advanced early cancer-detection tools.
